NEW ORLEANS MEDICAL NOTICE.

DR. LEROY'S MIXTURE FOR THE SPEEDY CURE OF CERTAIN SECRETHRAL DISEASES, AND THOSE AFFECTIONS SOLELY—TO THE PUBLIC.—Having discovered a safe, speedy, and effective practice in New Orleans has fully tested its power and removed those prejudices which physicians and the public generally have against as an advertised medicine by its invariable success in all Urethral Affections, such as Gonorrhœa, Chronic Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Spasmodic Stricture, Neuralgia of the bladder and Urethra, Affection of the Kidneys, Incontinence of the Urine, Whites, &c.

It would be well in obstinate case of Gonorrhœa and Gleet to use in connection with the Mixture our CAMPHORATED BELLADONNA INJECTION. Price 50 cents.

TAKE NOTICE.—As in all uncomplicated cases ONE BOTTLE of DR. LE ROY'S MIXTURE never fails to effect a permanent cure, in from three to eight days, assisted, if necessary, by a visit of the Nebidonna Injection, the process of getting promptly cured of a disagreeable and often dangerous malady is striking.

The Mixture is not an empirical remedy, a "cure all," but is compounded by a physician and prescribed solely for Urethral Affections.

It is entirely veritable, not nauseous, and can be used with perfect safety, confidence, and ease, as it does not affect the breath, requires but little change in diet, and no restriction from business, which has rendered it very popular both with the public and medical men.

Persons afflicted are strongly recommended to give it a trial, when its prompt effect will convince them of its efficacy.

PRICE PER BOTTLE $3.

CAUTION.—Recollect the genuine article is liquid. Every French label has the written signature of LEROY & PARIS, and every Englishone has the written and signature of

LOUISVILLE.

MONDAY, AUGUST 29, 1859.

OFFICIAL DESPOTISM.—Under this head, Col. Forney, of the Philadelphia Press, President Buchanan's creature, makes these strong remarks upon the conduct of the Administration:

At no time in the history of politics in this quarter have the officials of the Federal Government been so domineering and despotic as at present. Not content with having interpolated into the Democratic creed endorsements of the treacheries of the Administration at Washington, they have determined to put forward the most odious candidates as the representatives of these treacheries, and to attach and proscribe all who do not approve their exactions. There has always been in the public mind a certain degree of sensitiveness in regard to the interference of the paid servants of the people in primary elections, even when this interference was resorted to in defence of an honest Administration; but now, when the whole policy of the President and his Cabinet is one looking alone to defeat and to revenge, it is easy to see that every effort to make a test of this policy will be productive of the utmost excitement and discontent in the Democratic ranks. No wide-spread is the dissatisfaction among the Democratic masses against this tyrannies and intrigues of the office holders, that we shall not be surprised at a general uprising of the party to rebuke and put down that which, unless speedily arrested, must end in the utter destruction of the hopes of the Democracy.

We don't know how wide-spread the dissatisfaction among the Democratic masses of Pennsylvania against the tyrannies and intrigues of the Administration may be, but we can behold no symptoms of any dissatisfaction among the Democratic masses in Kentucky and the South. We can detect, by the closest scrutiny, no indication whatever of "a general uprising of the party to rebuke and put down" the corruptions and villainies in either the high places or all the low places of the Government. The corruptions stink to heaven, but not the Democracy breathe the stink as if it were a rich fragrance to their nose. The Democratic organs, far from rebuking the Administration for its treachery and its insolence misdeeds, vie with each other in defending and eulogizing it when others rebuke it; and the Democratic masses are or seem to be pathetic content. No resolution condemning the Buchanan Administration, no resolution speaking of it in any other terms than those of approval and commendation, has been passed by any Democratic convention, Legislature, or popular meeting in the West or South. Whatever our Democratic masses may think or feel or know in respect to the Administration's infamy, they are very careful to lisp no word of disapprobation.

It is a melancholy thing to see a great party thus tolerant of the most atrocious and disgraceful misgovernment, and not only tolerant of it but seemingly is in love with it and acting in the expression of its love. It calls a fearful tale of party demoralization. If men will support an Administration guilty of the things which the Buchanan Administration has done, what on earth could an Administration do to lose their support? Surely it would have to reach its invention to devise some new and as yet unheard of schemes of official crime and villainy.

☞The fairs of the Horticultural Society, the Mechanics' Institute, and the Southwestern Agricultural and Mechanical Association are about to be held in Louisville, and we have heretofore directed attention in general terms to their importance. We anticipate a large concourse of citizens from the interior of Kentucky and other States to attend those meetings, and we can assure them that our business men are fully prepared to enable them to suit themselves in every variety of goods, from the extensive stocks now open in our city. Traders and store keepers, by visiting us during the fairs, can combine amusement with business, and they will find as large an assortment of staple and fancy goods and groceries as can be exhibited in any other place west of the Allegheries, for sale either by wholesale or retail. We extend a cordial invitation to all to come to Louisville, see our improvements, witness our rapid advancement, and contemplate the boundless resources we possess to supply all the country which will be tributary to the railroad now in rapid process of completion. We hope our Tennessee neighbors especially will pay us a visit and become better acquainted, for we are convinced that the better we know each other the more cordial will be the mutual esteem to grow up between us. We are soon to be united to you in indissoluble bonds, and long and happy future business relations will subsist, equally advantageous, we trust, to seller and purchaser. We will guarantee most cheerfully the urbanity, integrity, and the accommodating spirit of our traders, and we are convinced that a mere first introduction to them will bring about life-long friendships and business relations with the strangers who may dwell within our gates during the fairs.

We confider that we look with much solicitude to the cooperation of the people of our Commonwealth to make the future of our city what nature, energy, and capital have destined it should be. We want to inculcate a State pride and develop a determination to support the commercial metropolis of Kentucky. We want our fellow-citizens to aid us in making our location attractive and inducing buyers to come among us. This can be done more effectively during the approaching fairs than at any other time. Mechanics and farmers of the neighboring counties can lend most valuable aid to us, while they serve themselves by exhibiting their improvements and products. For several years past we have had public spirited individuals who have taken a deep interest in these annual displays, but we now desire to make the occasion universally possible by offering inducements to all to swell the display, even if they do not carry off premiums, ribbons, prizes, and premiums. It is manifest that every one who attends a fair sees or learns something which must be advantageous to him; it is not necessary that he should carry off the emblem of victory, for, should he fail to accomplish that, he must be able to find out wherein his work is deficient, and thus be able to change his course of policy. Those who raise stock will take delight in inspecting the various breeds; those who make machines may catch a new idea from the ingenuity of others; and those who produce our food cannot but receive useful hints from their converse with their fellow-laborers of the soil. It is a matter of wonder for any one to absent himself from these friendly competitions because he doubts his ability to win a prize. Try once and again, and the very fact of repeated trials is like the dream of the farmer who dug up his garden to find a hidden treasure and the constant turning of the soil brought him a return more precious than would have been any concealed gold he might have stumbled upon. The Nashville News tells a story to the point. It remembers to have been present at a fair in Middle Tennessee, when a gentleman arrived on the ground with an aged boar, which he declared was the best animal in the State; and he would have bet largely upon taking the premium offered for that description of animal, against all competitors. His hog was a good one; but the editor thought he could see some points where it might be improved upon, and quietly suggested to the owner that he thought he could soon find better hogs than his. He laughed at this, but in less than an hour afterwards, in passing around the ground, he met for saw a hog which he thought to be a superior animal, and he took the trouble to hunt up his friend and ask him to look at it. When he had looked for a little while at the animal to which his attention was called, he said in a half mortified half glad tone of voice: "I haven't got my boar at all; that ain't my hog that I showed you. It must belong to somebody else. Why, he's a poor shoat, and I wonder that any sensible man should ever have believed mine to be a good hog at all. I mean to have that hog, or one like him, before I leave this ground." And sure enough, before he left for home he had a handsome specimen of the youthful porkers. That man avowed his belief that the knowledge he had gained by attending that fair was worth at least five hundred dollars to him personally.

Thus it is that fairs can be made to profit every observant man, and we therefore want our farmers to make out gatherings attractive. By so doing they make Louisville a large market, extend its influence, and thereby directly benefit themselves. Every new factory, machine shop, or store opened in this city is another pebble dropped in the great business ocean, which creates a swell that extends its circles, and the displacement influences the surrounding country. Let us, then, have an unprecedented display at our fairs, and trust us that no one will afterwards regret having put himself to a little extra trouble to insure it.

☞The editor of the Democrat claims to have said a thousand times before the election, that he would rather the people should take up arms in civil war than call on Congress to protect Southern rights in the Territories. A thousand is a pretty large number. We don't remember that he said the thing even once, and we don't believe that any of his readers do. If he really repeated the declaration a thousand times, he certainly must have been desperately intent upon impressing it, or at least the memory of it, on his readers' minds, but unquestionably he failed entirely. Now if he had only taken the precaution to repeat it two thousand times, who knows but that he might have made somebody remember it?

☞Bennett of the New York Herald calls for "light and air." He has no business with either. If the light is let in upon him, he shuts his eyes against it, and, if the air breathes on him, he pollutes it.

☞Douglas stock seems rather at a discount in Indiana, as the delegate elections of the State are going against the Black Dwarf.

☞If Southern Democrats will attentively regard the policy of their political brethren of Ohio in the pending State canvass, we think they will find convincing proof that the Northern Democracy are all in favor of Douglas and will turn to ridicule every conservative sentiment which comes from the Opposition. On Saturday week, for instance, Mr. Dennison spoke at Portsmouth, and the text of the Portsmouth Tribune of his speech is thus paraded in staring capitals and italic typeby the Ohio Statesman, the central Democratic organ:

The Tribune says his remarks upon the fugitive slave law "were such as to dispel all prejudice that may have been entertained against him as a 'higher law' advocate. HE DECLARED HIMSELF IN FAVOR OF AN UNRESTRICTED ENFORCEMENT OF THE PROVISIONS OF THAT LAW, AND BELIEVED THAT THE SLAVEHOLDER WAS CLEARLY ENTITLED TO RECLAIM HIS RUNAWAY SLAVES IN A FREE STATE. If the law was objectionable in some features he counselled the people to seek a remedy in its amendment or repeal through Congress. THERE WAS NO RANTING FANATICISM AND HIGHER-LAW NIGGERISM IN HIS SPEECH, and if any were expecting to hear anything of that kind they were disappointed."

Why does the Ohio Statesman hold this language up before its readers so conspicuously? If Mr. Dennison's views are wrong, or mischievous, or revolutionary, why not say so? The intent is evident. It is a covert appeal to the worst passions of the fanatics, and the Statesman hopes, by showing the conservative position of an anti-Democratic candidate, to damage his chances before the people. When it is recollected that Mr. Dennison is the Republican candidate for Governor of Ohio, we think the whole South, irrespective of party bias, will rejoice to find that he has had the manliness to oppose the ultraisms of the Giddings school.

☞The Courier of Saturday says in reference to the election of Speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives:

We would not confer the appointing of Territorial committees upon any man who holds that a Territorial Legislature may lawfully clear slavery out of its domain during its Territorial condition. We abominate such a heresy, and will never cover it its hideous deformity with the charity of Democracy. It is practical Abolitionism.

Now, if there is a Democratic member of Congress from any non-slaveholding State, who rejects Douglas's squatter sovereigntyism, we have not heard of him. Nor has the editor of the Courier. The rule laid down by that paper excludes every Northern Democrat from the Speakership. Yet does anybody believe, that, in the organization of the House, the Southern Democratic members will array themselves in solid phalanx against the election of any and every Northern Democrat as the presiding officer? Does the Louisville Courier expect it?

Squattar-sovereigntyism is the Democratic order of the day. The Courier will have to give in to it or perish miserably as a Democratic paper. It may as well be looking out for a soft spot to fall on, but we assure it in all earnestness that there is no soft spot in our party.

☞The Democrat, in an article intended rather to disparage Gen. Houston, says "he is about the same he has been for the last ten or fifteen years." Is he about the same that he was when the editor of the Democrat wrote and published that famous article eulogizing his abilities and his patriotism in the most enthusiastic style and presenting him as the best man in the nation for the Presidency of the United States?

☞In speaking on Saturday of the new partnership of McMullen & Kaye, we neglected to do justice to the former. Mr. McMullen, like Mr. Kaye, is among the best business men of our city, and may always be relied on for his honesty, fidelity, and energy.

☞Gen. Pierce, now in Europe, seems to be very popular there. He made a mean President but no doubt makes an excellent ex-President.

An Indiana editor says "Mrs. Swisshelm is a fierce old hen."

Yes, with talons to match,

We can only answer our fair cotemporary in kindred poetry, which we trust will mail our friendship more strongly than any demonstration, "pugna et calcibus!"

My pretty Jane, my dearest Jane,
Ah, never look so shy,
But meet me in the sanctum, Jane,
When the dragon's filled with rye.

☞It is said that Capt. Rynders expects to give to the world at least fifty thousand copies of his biography. There are a good many fellows in our penitentiary that have exhibited first rate copies of the Captain's life.

☞The New York Tribune comes to the relief of the rivals who are contesting for the mayoralty by proposing James Gordon Bennett of the Herald as a compromise candidate. It thinks that, as no one has rendered such essential services to the Democratic party, it would be a graceful return for his long devotion to reward him with the nomination. We do not think the Tribune's recommendation will be successful, though we must acknowledge that Bennett would look such a single eye to the interests of the city.

☞Parson Brownlow, of the Knoxville Whig, says, that, owing to the enfeebled state of his system, the resort of inordinate attention to bust and bottle, he was compelled to go to the mountains of Virginia and seek a panacea in the delightful and refreshing bathe and other nose of their creative waters. "In a word," says the Parson, "we are afflicted by a nameless but wide spread tribe of infirmities, embraced in the general term debility, and we must have rest and relief, or incur the risk of further injurious consequences. While we desire to live for the benefit of our family, we have no wish to gratify a numerous class of human beings, by giving up to die."

☞Near Edwardsville (Ill.), a few days ago, a negro, named William Brown, arrested Isaac Dickinson, a white man and a carpenter, and carried him forcibly to town as a fugitive slave. If such things happen there frequently, we're afraid the fugitive slave-law will get unpopular in that quarter.

☞Hon R. Kneass, always a member of that Democratic wing which bitterly opposed Mr. Buchanan in his Presidential aspirations, has received the nomination as candidate for District Attorney in Philadelphia from a convention controlled entirely by federal patronage. Either Buchanan must be the most forgiving or the most forgetting of men, or there is some truth in the remark which a correspondent of the New York Times attributes to Col. Wall of New Jersey. Some one was running Mr. Wall about his being defeated for a mission, when he gaively remarked that "Buchanan's friends were getting so infernally scarce on this side of the water, that he could not afford to send any of them abroad, and, therefore, he very prudently took to sending his enemies."

☞The result of the election for Attorney General in Tennessee is not yet definitely settled. Head was still ahead, at the last accounts, in about two-thirds of the State.

Oh yes—they are often united in the same person, as the readers of the Journal can testify.

New Albany Ledger.

But now and then cognacy mistakes impertinence for wit, and handles the bright, keen, and polished weapon of satire as clumsily as a baboon would a razor.

☞It seems to be pretty well settled that the American party of New York will, for the present at least, act as a distinct organization. Possibly the Republicans of that State may by and by come to their senses if they have got any to come to.

☞The Buffalo Courier says the Directors of the Suspension Bridge Company had an injunction served upon M. Blondin, which, if sustained and made perpetual, will interfere with his futura exhibitions. That company is a "soulless corporation"; it takes locomotives and cars across the rivar on wire ropes, and is unwilling to let Blondin take a single man over on a hempen cord. Perhaps it fears that the Frenchman intends to establish a free ferry and thus injure its business.

☞A school of fish followed in the wake of a vessel from the Mediterranean to the port of New York. They are inhospitably caught and eaten as ravenously as a South Sea Islander would gobble down a juicy missionary.

☞In a late duel at New Orleans a Mr. Scott was badly hurt by his antagonist, Mr. Bender. He is not the first chap that has been damaged by "a bender."

☞"You are an old sheep," said a promising specimen of young America to his mother. "Well, you little rascal," exclaimed she, seizing the broomstick, "if I'm an old sheep, I know'd you, and I'll lam you again."

☞The editor of the Southern Times says that he has eleven children. If they are no smarter than their father, the case is an illustration of the old saying, "ons fool makes many."

☞The New York Times advises O. Jennings Wise to sell his pistol and join the Society of Friends. Why not retain the pistol and call upon friends to settle personal difficulties?

☞The Hon. A. B. Wright, of Georgia, calls party platforms "political man-traps." We never knew a trap of that sort that could hold a Locofoco by the leg five minutes.

☞The Washington Constitution has an editorial upon "the immorality of the Opposition." We have never known Satan to praise those who oppose him and his works.

☞The Indianapolis Journal says: "Whipping is getting to be a common exercise among married men in Indianapolis at the present time." No wonder, then, divorces are so frequent in the State.

☞Young Wise and Mr. Ould are better marksmen with the pen than the pistol. Their paper pellets hit, but their leaden bullets miss.

☞"Are we a nation of cowards?" This is a serious question, but no very favorable answer can be given. The rowdy clubs in the Eastern cities—the legitimate fruits of the Democratic political organizations in New York and Philadelphia, known as the Empire and the Keystone clubs, the chief bullies of which now hold prominent offices under Buchanan—are becoming notorious for their brutal attacks on the defenceless, and their careful avoidance of all peril in assaults upon those able to defend themselves. The recent row at Jones' Woods, near New York, at Tacony, near Philadelphia, and at a camp meeting near Baltimore are sad evidences that bands of individual cowards use brute force when they can do so with impunity, and forget all manly instincts in their insults to the weak and defenceless. They constitute a national disgrace, and the municipal authorities of those cities ought to bring the strong arm of law down upon them in terrible retribution.

☞The Pittsburg Gazette boasts that its city has the advantage over all her sister cities, in her abundant supply of excellent water. Is it from the pure Ohio or does Monongahela mingle with it?

The movement in favor of Mr. Bell in this State, having for its object his elevation to the Presidency, was not inaugurated by politicians. It is the spontaneous uprising of the people in his favor. They remembered his brilliant services "twenty years ago." He triumphed then. The Democratic hosts were scattered before him like sheep. Not even the presence of the old hero of New Orleans could hold them together against the powerful "arts and arguments" of Mr. Bell. As he triumphed then he will triumph again in 1860, if the standard of the Opposition is placed in his hands, which now seems probable. His name carries with it the prestige of success. His standard will be the rallying point for all who love the Union. They will gather around him from the East and West, the North and South, and the idea of November will witness a its hideous deformity with the charity of Democracy. It is practical Abolitionism.

Now, if there is a Democratic member of Congress from any non-slaveholding State, who rejects Douglas's squatter sovereigntyism, we have not heard of him. Nor has the editor of the Courier. ☞Parson Brownlow, of the Knoxville Whig, says, that, owing to the enfeebled state of his system, the resort of inordinate attention to bust and bottle, he was compelled to go to the mountains of Virginia and seek a panacea in the delightful and refreshing bathe and other nose of their creative waters. "In a word," says the Parson, "we are afflicted by a nameless but wide spread tribe of infirmities, embraced in the general term debility, and we must have rest and relief, or incur the risk of further injurious consequences. While we desire to live for the benefit of our family, we have no wish to gratify a numerous class of human beings, by giving up to die."

☞Near Edwardsville (Ill.), a few days ago, a negro, named William Brown, arrested Isaac Dickinson, a white man and a carpenter, and carried him forcibly to town as a fugitive slave. If such things happen there frequently, we're afraid the fugitive slave-law will get unpopular in that quarter.

☞Hon R. Kneass, always a member of that Democratic wing which bitterly opposed Mr. Buchanan in his Presidential aspirations, has received the nomination as candidate for District Attorney in Philadelphia from a convention controlled entirely by federal patronage. Either Buchanan must be the most forgiving or the most forgetting of men, or there is some truth in the remark which a correspondent of the New York Times attributes to Col. Wall of New Jersey. Some one was running Mr. Wall about his being defeated for a mission, when he gaively remarked that "Buchanan's friends were getting so infernally scarce on this side of the water, that he could not afford to send any of them abroad, and, therefore, he very prudently took to sending his enemies."

☞The result of the election for Attorney General in Tennessee is not yet definitely settled. Head was still ahead, at the last accounts, in about two-thirds of the State.

Oh yes—they are often united in the same person, as the readers of the Journal can testify.

New Albany Ledger.

But now and then cognacy mistakes impertinence for wit, and handles the bright, keen, and polished weapon of satire as clumsily as a baboon would a razor.

☞It seems to be pretty well settled that the American party of New York will, for the present at least, act as a distinct organization. Possibly the Republicans of that State may by and by come to their senses if they have got any to come to.

☞The Buffalo Courier says the Directors of the Suspension Bridge Company had an injunction served upon M. Blondin, which, if sustained and made perpetual, will interfere with his futura exhibitions. That company is a "soulless corporation"; it takes locomotives and cars across the rivar on wire ropes, and is unwilling to let Blondin take a single man over on a hempen cord. Perhaps it fears that the Frenchman intends to establish a free ferry and thus injure its business.

☞A school of fish followed in the wake of a vessel from the Mediterranean to the port of New York. They are inhospitably caught and eaten as ravenously as a South Sea Islander would gobble down a juicy missionary.

☞In a late duel at New Orleans a Mr. Scott was badly hurt by his antagonist, Mr. Bender. He is not the first chap that has been damaged by "a bender."

☞"You are an old sheep," said a promising specimen of young America to his mother. "Well, you little rascal," exclaimed she, seizing the broomstick, "if I'm an old sheep, I know'd you, and I'll lam you again."

☞The editor of the Southern Times says that he has eleven children. If they are no smarter than their father, the case is an illustration of the old saying, "ons fool makes many."

☞The New York Times advises O. Jennings Wise to sell his pistol and join the Society of Friends. Why not retain the pistol and call upon friends to settle personal difficulties?

☞The Hon. A. B. Wright, of Georgia, calls party platforms "political man-traps." We never knew a trap of that sort that could hold a Locofoco by the leg five minutes.

☞The Washington Constitution has an editorial upon "the immorality of the Opposition." We have never known Satan to praise those who oppose him and his works.

☞The Indianapolis Journal says: "Whipping is getting to be a common exercise among married men in Indianapolis at the present time." No wonder, then, divorces are so frequent in the State.

☞Young Wise and Mr. Ould are better marksmen with the pen than the pistol. Their paper pellets hit, but their leaden bullets miss.

W. M. Garner, of Charlestown, Ind., says:

"I have sold during the past season (18—) 300 bottles of Hughes's Tonic. I consider it one of the very best remedies for the cure of Ague."

Mr. Shoemaker, of Mt. Washington, Ky., writes:

"One of my customers, Mrs. Letitia Crume, of High Grove Post-office, Nelson county, had a child to be taken under treatment for mouth for Chills. All things failed. I sold her a bottle of your Tonic, by the use of which her child was permanently cured. And I am pleased to say that he cured six cases with one bottle."

I am willing to retain my present interest—one third—or would prefer selling the purchase of the whole; or if there should be no satisfactory offer, I will continue to run the whole property; notwithstanding, I should prefer retaining my interest.

AN AURORA BOREALIS.—One of the most magnificent auroral displays ever witnessed in this latitude was seen about 9 o'clock last night. The whole heavens, from the bowed horizon to the zenith, were brilliantly illuminated with a rose-colored light. The flashes were very vivid and from east to west the entire expanse was divided into compartments which were glowing with all the prismatic colors of the rainbow. The phenomenon was as bright as a fairy dream and as fleeting, lasting only about a quarter of an hour. As the aurora faded away, the sky became clear, the stars shone out in goodly array and the whole celestial appearance presaged "the storm was over and gone."

The northwestern sky was the portion most brilliantly illuminated, but in the northeast the rosy flush was exquisitely beautiful. We learn that the electricity in the atmosphere interfered seriously with the telegraph lines. Both the House and Morse lines between New York and Philadelphia were thrown out of connection. At 8 o'clock its effect was felt at the Pittsburg telegraph office, before the aurora was visible here; at 9 o'clock it was at its height, producing wonder and awe among our citizens.

ASTOUNDING DISCLOSURES.—Roach and Halley were before the Police Court on Saturday. As we intimated, no felony was made out against them, but they were held to bail as suspected characters, and failing to give it were sent to the workhouse. We publish in the police report a letter found on Roach. It was written "Rono, Perry county, Ind.," but the place meant is doubtless "Rome," which is in Perry county. Many words and marks are used in it which belong to the vocabulary of thieves only. The letter makes some astounding disclosures. The writer, who assumes the name of "Box Southerner," is evidently one of the leaders of the gang of thieves that infest the Western and Southwestern States. He says that he has made thus far $8,000, and has no doubt that "Weasel Northerner," to whom the letter is addressed, has done better. All the "boys" were expecting him to be present at the approaching "great meeting" of thieves.

These scoundrels are lagued together by an oath, a copy of which we published on Monday. They bind themselves by it to swear falsely before any court should it be necessary to free a brother thief. Their business is not only horse stealing, but every other kind of theft, burglary, counterfeiting, and even murder.

After these expositions, the frequent occurrences of lynching cannot be wondered at any longer. The law is altogether inadequate to reach them. The citizens of Parry county should keep a lock out for the "Fox."

☞It will be seen from the police report that no examination of the case of Ingles, alias Norton, the forger, was had on Saturday. By request of his counsel, Messrs. Lancaster and Baird, the case was set for tomorrow. We have given all the particulars in this case, and we do not believe the examination will elicit anything additional.

☞Mr J. J. Hayes, a new attache in the office of the Jeffersonville Railroad in this city, arrived on the 9 o'clock train on Saturday night, having come through from Philadelphia in thirty four hours. He came by the Pennsylvania Central to Pittsburg, and from Crestline by the Bellefontaine Railroad to Indianapolis.

Our friend J. P. Thompson, of the Blue House, has also returned from an Eastern tour and favors it with late dates.

THE LYNCHING IN CALDWELL.—We publish today an interesting letter from Caldwell county, giving full particulars of the late lynching case in that county.

☞To-morrow morning (Tuesday) at 10 o'clock Messrs. S. G. Henry & Co. will open the fall campaign with a large sale of clothing, cassimeres, satinets, vestings, black satins, and other desirable winter goods, at their new auction rooms, No. 504 Main street. Clothing merchants and city dealers would do well to examine this large and desirable stock of goods before the sale.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—Between 10 and 11 o'clock this morning, Mr. J. G. Dodge, while on horseback on Broadway, near Cawthon's Mills, saw three men running at the top of their speed. He hailed the first he met, which was the notorious George Walker, and asked him what was the matter. George said something about an Irishman and took across a cornfield. Mr. D. soon learned that George and another man who calls himself Alexander McLaughlin had robbed an Irishman of $25. Mr. Dodge took after them and soon overtook Walker, and, commanding him to halt, told him he had better give up the money. George handed Mr. Dodge a roll of money, remarking that he didn't steal it. Mr. Dodge then told George that he must go along with him, and he did so.

In the meantime, a man from the "Twenty-one Houses" had captured McLaughlin. Walker and McLaughlin were put into a wagon and brought to jail. Both are young men.

Walker is a desperado and it is high time his career was stopped. He is the man who was concerned with Ben Powell, Jr., in the murder and robbery of Ferris some years ago, for which Powell was sent to the penitentiary, and Walker has ever since made bawdy houses his headquarters.

Evening Bulletin of Saturday.

The preceding appeared in our evening edition of Saturday.

On Saturday evening Walker and McLaughlin were brought before the City Court for examination, and from the testimony its appears that the robbery was effected by what is termed—

Dropping the Pigeon.—The robbed, an Irishman named Patrick Stanton, was a passenger on the morning train on the Nashville railroad, which arrived at 10 o'clock. On coming out of the depot, Patrick met McLaughlin, who volunteered to go to town with him, Mc. representing himself as a clerk at the depot. They started down Broadway, and after going a short distance Mc. found a red piece of leather with a string around it. On taking the string off, Mc. found a five cent piece in the leather and said, "That will do for a drink," and the remark received the hearty approbation of Pat. Walking on a little further, they met George Walker, who inquired whether they had not found a piece of leather with a five-cent piece in it. Mc. said he had picked up a piece, but there was no five cent piece in it now. George offered to bet $50 there was. Mc. turned to Pat and asked the loan of $50, but he had only $21. George agreed to lower the bet to that amount just to accommodate Mc. Pat.'s $21 were put up in George's hand, who, by the way, did not put up any money himself. The piece of leather was opened and out dropped the five cent piece. George took to his heels, Mc. followed, and Pat. brought up the rear hallooing "stop thief!"

Just then a man stepped up to Pat, and after being told what had happened, volunteered to go with him to find a policeman to have the parties arrested. By this time George and Mc. had got off a considerable distance and were out of sight. Pat not liking the looks of his newly made friend, and having no confidence in him, started again in pursuit of George and Mc. When he came in sight of them he again gave the alarm, and they immediately parted company, running in different directions. Mr. Dodge came along on horseback, and having been told by Pat what had happened, pursued and overtook George just as he was trying to get over a fence. Mr. D. used his umbrella on him, and, to prevent his escape, would have ridden over him, but George surrendered and delivered up the $21. McLaughlin was taken by another man.

The case was continued till to-day, and in the meantime the parties were committed.

Arrest of young Ben Powell.—From the description furnished by Patrick of the man who intercepted him when pursuing Walker and McLaughlin, after they got his money, it was suspected that that individual was Ben Powell, jr. Officer Shanks arrested him on Saturday evening after the examination had taken place, and he will be brought out this morning.

☞From the press of Peterson & Brothers, of Philadelphia, we have received a Book on Behavior, a guide and manual for ladies, written by Miss Leslie, who, having taught all the girls how to cook, now instructs them how to deport themselves in society. The advice is the result of experience and observation, and will be found of great benefit. The ladies are told what to do when visiting to add to their own pleasure and the ease and comfort of their hosts; how to act to both the guest and host; the hour to go and the time to go away; how to carry themselves in the streets, at amusements, and when shopping. The book gives many useful hints for traveling, on hotel life, and shipboard; generally of conversation, manners, dress, introductions, deportment in male society; tells how to preserve the lips, teeth, complexion, &c.; gives full instructions in letter writing and on receiving presents, and in fact there is hardly a position into which accident may not throw a lady but the rules of conduct are laid down, the use of which will make her appear easy, refined, graceful, and, as the Kentucky stock-raisers say, "thoroughbred." The great beauty of Miss Leslie's work is that it does not lead to artificiality of behaviour nor does it teach that style of "deportment" which Dickens has so caricatured in Turveydrop; but is mere skin to that advice given by Polonius to his son Laertes when about to enter upon the great world. Our young ladies will find much to please them and more to instruct them in this valuable volume, and we are much mistaken if Frank Madden, who has it for sale, will not soon be compelled to order a new supply from the publishers.

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

A large quantity of rain has fallen since our last, which has already told on the river. Yesterday it was at a stand, and last evening it commenced rising slowly with scant 4 feet water in the canal. There are indications of more rain. We shall no doubt have a fine stage of water.

The Mississippi at St. Louis was at a stand on Friday with 5 feet 8 inches water to Cairo. All its upper tributaries were low and falling.

Mailboat for Cairo.—The fine steamer Hazel Dell is the mailboat for Cairo to-day. She has fine accommodations and is ably officered. To Mr. Richardson, her attentive clerk, we are indebted for a memorandum.

The Poland is the packet for Evansville to-day. From a paragraph in the Evansville Journal it appears that the captain of the P. and his men called on the editor of that paper in relation to a statement in it charging the former with refusing to bring a poor family to this port. The Journal gives the captain a severe rebuke for calling on its editor.

The Bowling Green is the packet for Leavenworth to day.

The Sam Kirkman and Portsmouth are advertised to leave to day—the former for Cairo and the letter for Nashville.

The Boston is the mailboat for Cincinnati to day.

☞Mr. Martin, Sheriff of Vanderburg county, reached here last evening on the steamer Hazel Dell, having in charge five prisoners for the Jeffersonville Penitentiary. One of them is Charles Smith, who was arrested by the police in this city some weeks ago, being suspected of having stolen a horse which he attempted to sell here. He was sent for five years. His partner is in jail at Cloverport awaiting trial.

SPLENDID GOODS.—A day or two ago we took a glance at Mr. M. C. Duvall's stock of goods. We thought we had never seen anything to excel it. Mr. D. has just returned from the East, and he has brought with him additions to his stock. The ladies of course will not neglect to give Mr. D. a call.

☞On Saturday evening we received a Nashville paper, which was brought by Mr. Radway, of the Adams Express, from Bowling Green and delivered by Mr. Critchlow, of O'Bannon, Kean, & Co.'s Express Line.

ARSON.—A man named Harrison Summers was committed to jail on Saturday, in default of bail, on a charge of arson. He is accused of burning a wagonload of barrels. The principal witness against him is George Watson, who is out on bail on a similar charge, and against whom Summers was a witness. The parties all reside in the Pond Settlement in this county.

☞A special train will commence running from Jeffersonville on Tuesday morning at 8 A. M. for Sellersburg and return at 5 P. M., for the purpose of accommodating those who wish to attend a camp meeting held in that vicinity.

The meeting will be continued during the week.

☞The East Baptist Church of this city has unanimously called Elder J. M. Bennett, of Pembroke, Christian county, Ky., to become her pastor.

☞Frank Stewart has been appointed surveyor of the customs at Columbus, Ky., in the place of William J. Walker, deceased.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS—Saturday, August 27th.—D. A. Roach and J. E. Halley, suspected felons. Bail in $800 of the former and $600 of the latter for one year.

These two men were arrested on their arrival here on Sunday with a horse, which it was supposed had been stolen, but it turned out that they purchased him. Roach had false whiskers, which he occasionally wore, and two papers in his possession—one of which was an oath which we published on Monday, and the other a letter, of which the following is a verbatim copy:

ROAN, Perry county ind May 25th '59.

well Weasel northerner, I received your's of the 1st inst., and was glad to hear from you but sorry to hear you was not doing as good. well by good Weasel our crowd is making it up, that is your men under my hand, for I will be damned if your man gets, the hearse, John hall, beats them all at stealing. by god the boys have giva me over 8 thousand dollar; my fourteen give me nearly 4 and your 9 give me over 4, so I have over 8, and your side of the house is beat. but three of my boys are in mexico [Mexico stands for jail] so we may and I expect will beat the boys. all want to see you bad, we have only X [crossed] 1 [a mark] since I been here, but we have 3 [a mark of a stirrup iron] stauds for stolen, 22 [a mark of a stirrup iron which means horses.] we are all enjoying ourselves about right. I think it be good to all to go South this winter. tell me in your next if boys will be down before our regular meeting and how you recruiting is doing. yours, [mark of a heart]

Fox Southerner.

Roach and Halley did not give bail and were sent to the workhouse. They will not, however, stay there long.

Wm. Ingles, alias Alex. Norton, forgery. Laid over till Tuesday morning, 30th inst., by consent.

Ingles is a fine looking man, between 30 and 40 years of age. The protrusion of his upper lip is hidden by a moustache. He still denies that he is Norton.

Peter Griffin and Mike Creary, disorderly conduct and disturbing religious worship. Bail in $200 each for six months.

Com'th vs. Fanny Bradley, on summons to show cause why an infant mulatto child in her possession named Susan Burns, aged two years, shall not be bound out. Ordered to be bound to Henry Kirby until she is 18 years of age.

Charles Smith, committed yesterday in default of $300 bail for three months, was brought in and a new trial granted. Committed to jail until Monday.

THE CROPS AND THE RAINS.—Our farmers are complaining of too much rain. The weather has also been entirely too cool.

In regard to the tobacco plant, the complaint in general that it is "frenchying." The cold rains we have just had will we fear prevent its ripening before frost sets in.

☞The fine new bale of cotton was received at Nashville on Friday from the plantation of Dr. Bonner, of Lincoln county. The Banner, in making this announcement, adds: "Like him of the Ledger, the Doctor is a little ahead of the times. Bonner will soon get to be a synonymous term for enterprise."

☞James Harris and Andrew Jackson Willis have been held to bail in $1000 to answer for the murder of John Ronan.

☞A remarkable case of eccentricity and meanness has come to light in Savannah. A Dr. C. F. Rinker was arrested and committed to prison for burying a colored girl, who had died, in the cellar of his house, to save the expenses of a public interment. The girl died a natural death, and nothing but extreme penuriousness on the part of her master was the cause of such an indecent mode of sepulture.

PRUSSIAN PREPARATIONS.—Prussia is continuing her military preparations on a very large scale. She has not only armed her flying artillery with rifled six pounders and her whole artillery on foot with twelve-pounders, but is now going to raise her infantry of the line from 64 to 100 regiments, which will increase her field army to about 450,000, not including the "Landwehr" of the second levy, which is destined exclusively for garrisoning the 28 Prussian fortresses. Prussia, like England, does not seem to have any extraordinary amount of faith in the French Emperor.

☞A son of Hon. Kenneth Rayner was recently killed by the accidental discharge of his gun while hunting.

☞Senator Fitch, of Indiana, who has been reported as seriously ill, has arrived at Washington in apparent good health.

☞The steamer Errickson has been sold in New York for $175,000. She is to be placed on the Nicaragua route.

☞The Central Kentuckian, referring to the recent interesting lectures of Mrs. Monroe in our city, on the proper sphere of woman, sancily says there is great need of something being done on the subject, and ventures the assertion that a sphere eight feet in diameter is not a proper one for any ordinary woman in such an economical age as this!

THE AMERICAN HORSES IN ENGLAND.—Prioress, Starke, Des Chiles, and Cincinnati are entered for the Caesarwitch and Cambridgeshire Stakes, and Woodburn and Lincoln for the latter. Starks is also entered for the Ebor Handicap at York, the Leamington Handicap at Warwick, and the Tradesman's Handicap at Soockton, being Handicapped higher in each than any other four year old. Des Chiles, Cincinnati, and Prioress are in other stakes.

☞Of all the various remedies advertised for the cure of coughs, and other affections of the lungs and throat, we have never known one spring so suddenly into universal popularity as John Bull's Compound Pectoral of Wild Cherry. We can scarcely pick up one of our exchanges, from Maine to Georgia, without meeting a favorable notice of its powers, and we have yet to meet with the first person who has used it, that has not been satisfied that it is all, and more than all, it is represented to be.

Owensboro' (Ky.) Americus.

BLONDIN AGAIN.—Monsieur Blondin did it again yesterday, with variations. That he can do it is now a fixed fact, a foregone conclusion, and should he announce in his next programme that he would walk the rope on the moder aide as flies walk a ceiling, every body would believe him. The "Liberian Slave" operation of yesterday was out, of itself, as exciting or astonishing as some previous peregrinations. His shackles were not more burdensome than some we have seen free white women at a fashionable party. They consisted of a tin collar, tin wristlets, and anklets, we suppose we must call them, all connected by tin chains more formidable in appearance than in reality. His shackles may have weighed a pound or two, but they were appropriate to his character. He appeared as a "Liberian Slave." There are no slaves in Liberia. Had he come on as a South Carolina nigger, he would have been in duty bound to appear in solid and weighty shackles, like Longfellow's chap:

"Chained to the market place he stood,
A man of giant frame."

Thus accoutred, the Monster went out again upon the rope, and in the course of his "ascension," as they call it at the Falls, stood upon his head, suspended himself beneath the cable hanging by one arm and one leg, by the neck, and swinging on his chest, all of which was very comfortable to look upon.

Having crossed to the Canadian side, he returned in his grand comic character of the "smart man who keeps a first class temperance hotel." He says he has a good-sized Russia iron arrangement, some two feet and a half long, and weighed, with all the traps, some fifty-six pounds, a good load to carry. Midway the rope he attached the store to the cable, climbed over it, started his fire, mixed his omelette, cooked it secundem artem, and then lowered it away to the people on the Mail of the Mist, who scrambled and fought for the delicacy, and it was a good Catholic world for a piece of the True Cross. This performance over, he packed up his kit, shouldered it with a good deal of difficulty, and returned to the American side, having occupied 45 minutes in the passage. To stay three quarters of an hour on that dizzy rope is in itself a marvelous feat.

Next Wednesday at 8 o'clock in the evening, Blondin will cross the rope surrounded by Bengal lights, in a blaze of glory. The grounds are to be illuminated by locomotive lamps, furnished by the Central and Great Western Railroad Companies, which are practically partners with Blondin in his exhibition. After all Blondon is a genius, and teaches his lesson like any other. He shows us what unfeebled, degenerate fellows we are, a-l for want of proper physical education. It is not quite necessary that we should be sallied on the tight rope, but we have no business to be the feeble, helpless children we are in all difficult physical situations.—Buffalo Commercial.

☞The Hon. John A. Gilmer, (Anti-Lecompton,) just re-elected to Congress from North Carolina), writes to a friend in Pittsburg:

I am re-elected by 2,000 majority over two opponents—one the regular administration nominee, the other of my own party, bitterly denouncing my Anti-Lecompton vote. I feel proud at being so nobly sustained in the midst of Mrs. Nev, on the consistency for doing my duty to the hour of sectional madness. JOHN A. GILMER.

RELEASED ON BAIL.—The arrest yesterday morning of David Houck, James Morgan and John Gambrill, on a bench warrant issued by Judge Price, charged with a murderous outrage in Baltimore county, caused a universal feeling of joy among our citizens. Their incarceration was confidently anticipated, and the hope very generally entertained of their prolonged absence from the city. They were, however, accompanied to Towsontown by Mr. Frederick C. Crowley, one of the contractors of the City Passenger Railway, and the principal contractor for the City Water Works, who went forward and gave his bond in $1,400 for each of the prisoners to appear and answer to the charge. They thus returned to the city in a few hours and were parading our streets in a carriage at 4 o'clock P. M. We stated a few days since that the City Passenger Railway Company were colleagued with the outlaws of our city, and were directly or indirectly furnishing them with the means of keeping them banded together.

This was indignantly denied at the time, although these men were then in the open employ of the company and its contractors. The supply could not be finished, it would now seem that their services are still required in the approaching convention for the nomination of members of the Legislature.

We regret to have to add that the action of Judge Price in regard to these men cruelly disappointed the hopes and expectations of our citizens. His recent decision not to take bail in removed cases, by which he could also have kept Houck and his class, who exteeded the field of their ruffianism into the county. But if bail was taken at all it should have been in an amount better suited to mark the enormity of the crime and the desperate character of the offenders.—Baltimore American.

RETURN OF THE AFRICAN EXPLORER.—Paul B. Du Chaillu, by birth a Frenchmso, who went out to Africa four years since under the patronage of the Philadelphia Natural Historical Society, but at his own expense from the Island of Corsica, has just returned to this city. He has been into the interior regions of Africa which are upon no map, and are without a name known to white men. He went inland from a point near the mouth of Gaboon river, whence, in the course of three years, he made five expeditions,—penetrating to a chain of mountains which precluded further progress, and covering a distance of several thousand miles through an unbroken forest, wherein are found tribes of hordes, only hostils tribes of Africans who had never seen a white man, whose institutions are slavery, witchcraft, and cannibalism; animal habits, zoosmons reptiles, and rich tropical vegetation—on foot or in canoe.

This young man, slight in frame, not thirty years old, made these journeys, one of them keeping him fifteen months in the bush. He has shipped from time to time many natural curiosities, and brings home a variety of curious manufactures, utensils, arms, musical instruments, and idols. The Africans, he says, are ingenious and highly intelligent, have fine beautiful grass cloths, pottery, which would take if called Etruscan, knives and spear heads made of iron melted by themselves. He brings home several specimens of the gigantic and ferocious monkey called the Troglodites Gorilla, and has settled all questions about him, and of the Koulom Kumbs, a new species between the Gorilla and Chimpanseen Duchaillu. He has written letters, which have been published in the Tribune, and will furnish that journal with further details.

FROM NEW MEXICO.—Independence, Aug. 26.—The Santa Fe mail arrived here today.

A serious difficulty, growing out of a political dispute, occurred in Santa Fe the day the mail left, in which Judge Houston stabbed another man named Chasteen, who, it was thought would die that day.

Business in Santa Fe was very brisk.

The company that left here several weeks ago for Pike's Peak, returned today. They report deep snow in the mountains, and mining operations for the present had almost stopped.

The Journal of Commerce says: "The arrangements for the running of the Collins steamers on the California route are now about completed. A new company called the North Atlantic Steamship Company was organized to-day, the capital to be $900,000, of which $500,000 will be owned by the Panama Railroad Company and $400,000 by the stockholders of the Pacific Company."

TIME IS MONEY.—As the people are aware that D. O'Hare, 427 Main street, between Fifth and Sixth, is the oldest, largest, and most experienced manufacturer of trunks and similar articles in the city, they should avail themselves of the rare opportunity afforded by Mr. O'Hare.

To country and city merchants he offers peculiar advantages in his wholesale department, while in the retail line he cannot be equaled.

Whoever wants to travel with a small carpet bag or an ornamental trunk need go no farther than the Great Western factory of Mr. O'Hare.

His manufactory is a credit to Louisville and should meet with extensive patronage, for he employs a large number of workmen and disburses a large amount of money weekly. As a matter of home pride and to subserve economy, purchasers will consult their best interest by purchasing of D. O'Hare.

Remember that the United States prize medal was awarded to D. O'Hare for the best trunks made. aug15d1m

RADICAL CURE FOR DROPSIES.—There is no disease in which the Peruvian Syrup has achieved greater wonders than in Dropsy of the abdomen and the limbs, whether occasioned by disease of the liver, or of the kidneys. It stimulates the absorbents to take up the effused fluids, increases the urinary and cutaneous secretions, and gives tone to stomach and intestines, thus removing both cause and consequences in these affections.

PERUVIAN SYRUP,

Solution of Protoxide of Iron,
The Only Reliable and Permanent
CURE FOR DYSPEPSIA,
Dropsies, Neuralgia, Boils, Salt Rheum, Consumptive Tendencies, Bronchitis, Piles,
GENERAL DEBILITY,
And all Disorders Arising from Impoverished and
IMPURE BLOOD,

The Peruvian Syrup does not profess to be a cure-all, but its ranges extensive, because many diseases apparently unlike, are intimately related, and proceeding from one cause, may be cured by one remedy.

The first step of disease for which the S rup provides a cure is precisely that which so often baffled the highest medical skill. The facts are tangible, the witnesses accessible, and the safety and efficacy of the System incontrovertible.

By its magical effects upon the Liver, congestion is entirely obviated, and that universal bane of the West,

CHILLS & FEVER,
Either wholly prevented or radically cured.

This bane of the West, which lays the foundation for many a consumption, seldom fails to attack those who are disordered liver. This tendency is effectually prevented by an occasional use of the PERUVIAN SYRUP, which, by its alterative and tonic effects, produces healthy action of the blood and liver, and effectually restores the system from the mischievous effects induced by the abuse of Calomel and Quinine.

LOUISVILLE JOURNAL.

☞ A Milan correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce thinks that great events are preparing in Europe, and that the Emperor of the French will have more war, and the only question seems to be, will he make it first on England, or on Prussia. The correspondent believes, first on Prussia; because, when that power, which alone is able and willing to support England, shall be beaten, England will be an easy prey to him. A pretext will easily be found; meanwhile governments always have pretexts for war on hand, and especially as the Emperor Napoleon. Prussia anticipates some such thing. She is continuing her military preparations on a very large scale. She not only has armed her flying artillery with rifled six pounders and her whole artillery on foot with twelve pounders, but is going now to raise her infantry of the line from sixty-four to one hundred regiments, which will increase her field army to about 450,000 men, not including the "Landwehr" of the second levy, which is destined exclusively for garrisoning the twenty-eight Prussian fortresses.

☞ Intelligence has been received that a Territorial Convention has been held in Genoa, Utah Territory. Sixty-one members were in attendance. The object of the Convention was to absolve that part of the Territory from Utah, and establish a government of their own, for the protection of their lives and property, until they can get a Territorial government established by Congress. They designed electing a Governor, Judges, and all officers necessary in such case. Much unanimity of opinion prevailed, and the ordinary political issues which prevail in this State are wholly absorbed in the Territorial question. It was supposed that Crane would be elected as their Representative to Congress.

☞ We are afraid that the Maine liquor law is not enforced in Boston, or the Saturday Gazette would have no warrant for letting off this epigrammatic bit:

> Y. says that he's a play for farce
> Just to see whether without liquor
> Experience proves each is the factor—
> He takes the "glass" at every act.

☞ Besides a visit to this country from Alfred Tennyson, we may expect Tom Taylor, the dramatist and novelist, and Mr. Berkley, the renowned sportsman.

SHERBORNE, ENGLAND.—Mr. Hilliard, in a letter to the Boston Courier, has the following piquant description of Sherbourne, England:

In this wonderful England one can go nowhere without setting his foot upon some venerable tradition or interesting memory. Here in Sherborne, for instance; a place which I came to merely to visit an old friend; but when here I find points of attraction of which I did not dream. Sherbourne Castle, hard by, now occupied by Mr. Digby—a gentleman of very large fortune, and the most delightful of my neighborhood—was the residence of Sir Walter Raleigh, and the central portion of the structure was built by him. Here, too, are the very lands which James I. took from him and bestowed upon his infamous favorite Carr, and for which Lady Raleigh vainly begged on her knees. Sherbourne is a town of about five thousand inhabitants; but it has one of the finest churches in all England. It is more like a cathedral than a church, indeed, it was once one. Sherbourne was a bishop's see long before the Norman conquest, and Wells, Exeter, and Salisbury are mere babes in comparison. The church, which has lately been restored at the charge of Mr. Digby—in very good taste and at great cost—is a very noble building, with stately windows of stained glass (modern), glorious columns, and a roof exquisitely carved and colored. Here, among others, is an extraordinary monument to the memory of an Earl of Bristol, who died in 1698. He is carved in full length, in the costume of his day; wig, buckle, ruffles, and button-holes included. He had the look to have had two wives; and, as is no more than fair, the ladies are placed, one on each side of him, with gowns curiously wrought out of marble. The monument is said to have cost £1,500, and in a world where funny sights are not too common, I think it well worth the money. Sir Thomas Wyatt, the poet, is buried in this church.

LEARDS OF KETTLE LAKE.—The following interesting information of the lizards of Kettle Lake is from the letter of a gentleman connected with Superintendent Cullen's expedition to the Yankton Indians, addressed to a gentleman of Washington and published in the Star:

There was but little pleasure in the trip, I assure you, the weather being unusually hot, and no game but a few breeding ducks, nor any fish; nothing, indeed, to enable any one to cheat himself with the notion he was a sporting character, except a camp at Kettle Lake—why there was nothing in that kettle but lizards, the vilest and most disgusting reptiles ever dreamed of in a fit of indignation; and they swarmed in such numbers that the first night's camp was almost unbearable. The dust raised by the whole camp, crawled about upon the tents, crept into our beds, and slimed themselves into our water pails; and one was compelled to watch another while he slept, to drive them off his companion's face, and keep them from making a kettle of his throat. We were indeed like the "Ancient Mariner" upon the sleeping seas, "water, water every where, and not a drop to drink." We had to send seven miles for a drink of water. Pleasant, that, at 100 deg. in the shade.

RABBARISM IN BUFFALO.—Yesterday morning, a man named David Wilson, another are by the name of "Hank," and another man whose name we did not learn, with three prostitutes from the infected district, started with a small boat for Fort Erie, ostensibly for a pic-nic. One of the females had on some previous occasion obtained a warrant for Wilson for assault and battery, and another female had had a warrant for the man "Hank" on the same complaint. Mr. McLane was in his own boat, below the first mentioned boat, and states that as soon as they left the dock they began to pelt the waters Wilson took one of the women, threw her overboard, and held her head under the water, apparently trying to drown her. He towed her along in this way, occasionally thrusting her head under the water, for the distance of three quarters of a mile. When the boat landed, the woman was left in the water up to her neck, fearing to come out of the water. Wilson then took off his clothes, and struck the water, around the woman, and threw her down in the water, thrusting her head beneath the surface, apparently endeavoring to kill her by suffocation.

After a while he came ashore, got his coat and went up over the hill to the pic-nic. After he had gone the poor woman got out of the water and ran down the beach, taking refage in a farmer's house. The other woman, who was remarried had once obtained a warrant against the man "Hank" for an assault and battery, all this time had been standing on the bench, afraid to go up to the pic-nic. Wilson, as he left, told this woman that he was going up to tell "Hank" to come down and get the other two. This woman then started to run, and "Hank" ran after her. He overtook her in a short time, and without saying a word gave her three or four heavy blows with his fist, knocking her down. She fell almost senseless, when the brute then commenced kicking her in the side and back. His curses at her while kicking her, and with awful oaths told her to get up. It was impossible for her to get up then, but finally between the kicks she managed to get up and run into the water, and remained there neck deep, until the brute, who feared to soil his clothing by going into the water, went off to the pic-nic.

After this the woman went into the water, and brought the almost exhausted female out, and took her down to a farm house. During the time he was beating and knocking her, he swore that he would kill her if he could. While Wilson was so tenderly nursing the beating he had inflicted upon him, and told him that she had always supported him—that he had lived off her efforts ever since she had lived with him. He said that he knew it, and that he never intended that she should support him as long as he lived.

After this pic-nic the three men and the one woman left in their boat. Previous to this, Wilson and "Hank" told the two women that they had got up the pic-nic for the purpose of getting them into Canada water and give them ——. The women were brought over by Mr. McLane in a very condition. We learn that officers from Canada procured warrants for the arrest of Wilson and "Hank," charging them with attempting to murder. When they arrive, which will be to-day, the Canada officers, we are authorized to say by Mr. Bee, chief of police, will be protected in making the arrest of Wilson, and "Hank," and in their return to Canada, and that no interference from the class of men to which Wilson and "Hank" belong will be allowed in this city. Under the treaty they can be returned, and from what we know, they will soon be arrested, and prompt justice administered to them.

THE SIX PLEAS FOR A NEW DRESS.—Tittlewinks wants another dress, and her lord protests. Now observe how she manages to get the better of him—

Plea No. 1, namely, the Persuasive Plea.—Oh, how hard he has to fight! She tells him how she loves him—commends his talents—calls him a king—asks if he has the heart to deny her. If he says he has, she proceeds to—

Plea No. 2, or the Doubting Plea.—She informs him of the fact that she has nothing to wear, and says a man is a brute who would not give his wife something to wear. That she is not fit to be seen. That people will cry shame on him. In vain he says that "beauty unadorned is adorned the most." She asks if he can be so mean as to refuse her. If he says yes she proceeds to—

Plea No. 3, or the Pouting Plea.—This contains more of gesture than speech. She sits at the table with her little nose turned up and her little eyes turned down. She eats little (till he goes to business), sighs often, and walks about the house like a lead-covered ghost. She speaks only to say "She knew it would be so," and "it served her just right." Should he dare to say "tit did," she proceeds to—

Plea No. 4, or The Property Plea.—She politely asks for the little money she had when she was married. Certainly she can do what she wishes with her own. She has a few worthy goods consisted of a few worsted and knitting-pins—but these knitting-pins she always pokes in his eyes unless she conquers him before she gets to plea No. 4. Should the fail, she proceeds to—

Plea No. 5, or The Comparative Plea.—All her departed lovers are made to pass before the unhappy man, and he is compared with them one by one. If she had married Mr. Snooks, the coachman—she would have had a livery. If she had married Mr. Swizzle, she would have lived in style on Broad street. If she had married—in fact, any body but her husband—she would have been treated like a human being. He, perhaps, becomes a little angry, and suggests if she had married Adam she would have dressed like Eve. But as she had married him, she must wear what he can give her. This roused her temper, and she comes immediately to—

Plea No. 6, or The Plea Conclusive.—Which consists of a threat to go to her mother, and many upbraidings that he brought her away from the joys of her own home to abuse and make her miserable.

Now, no man was ever able to stand all these pleas. He generally falls at No. 1, and only in extreme cases reaches No. 6.

Embarrassing Mistake of a Fifth Avenue Omnibus Driver.—Two Fifth Avenue ladies were promenading that fashionable street one pleasant afternoon not long since, when they discovered a female acquaintance passing them in the omnibus. Anxious to attract her attention, they made various demonstrations, and finally began to kiss their hands to her in a very energetic manner. The omnibus driver saw the motions and thought they were intended for him. He hesitated until the kissing had been repeated, and then, no longer doubtful, returned it with a will, to the great merriment of the spectators and the overjoyed disgust of the ladies in question, who went off with a closed on their brows, an smiling a moment before.—*N. VENTILATION.—There is always a draught through key-holes and window crevices, because, there is an external air to be had. But if the room we occupy, it rushes through the window crevices to supply the deficiency caused by the escape of warm air up the chimney. If you open the lower sash, the fresh air, which is more sought than if you open the upper sash. The reason of this is because, if the lower sash be open, cold air will rush into the room and cause a great draft inward, but if the upper sash be opened the heated air of the room will rush out, and of course there will be less draught inward.

A room is best ventilated by opening the upper sash, because in the winter time the air, which descends towards the ceiling, can escape more easily. The wind dries damp linen because dry wind, like a sponge, imbibes the particles of vapor from the surface of the linen in fact, as they are formed. The hottest place in a church or chapel is the gallery, because the heated air of the building ascends, and all the cold air which can enter through the doors and windows keeps to the floor till it has become heated.

Special attention should be given to the ventilation of the Michigan Central Depot, air and in abundance if it are, if possible, more necessary when we are asleep than when we are awake. Sleeping rooms should be large, high, and airy, more especially in warm climates, and in situations where the windows have to be closed at night on account of malaria.

Scared by a Woman.—An extraordinary case came up in one of our police courts on Saturday, which, had it been proven, would have established a practical instance of the enforcement of the woman's rights doctrine. A Mr. Hiram Chapman, well known as a dealer in negroes in this city, charged one Mary Coleman, equally well known, but in a very different respects, with enticing him into her room and compelling him, by force and a summary severance of his mortal coil, to sign and endorse a note at three months for one thousand dollars. The evidence in the case showed that Mr. Chapman had been living with the accused in matrimonial relations for several months, when he desired to get married, and in consequence for this assertion of her marital rights she had not done by a present at the end of three months of a negro, or else one thousand dollars. One of Mary's friends told her this paper was valueless in the eye of the law and wrote her out the blank form of a note for one thousand dollars payable three months from date. Mary procured Chapman's signature to this, and as he says, by force. Several witnesses, however, testified to his having said that he had signed the note cheerfully, in compliance with his former promise to Mary, and that she had used no threats or violence toward him. Mary followed the example set her by her late protector and was married. Her husband was in court during the examination, and her lawyer used this fact to touch upon the well known tender feelings of Recorder Bailey, picturing the anguish which a charge of this kind must bring upon a newly married couple in their honeymoon. The case was dismissed.—N. O. Bul.

CHAFING UNDER THE COLLAR.—A gentlemen who has tried the plan successfully for five years, communicates the annexed method of preventing horses from chafing under the collar. He says he gets a piece of leather and has what he terms a false collar made, which is simply a piece of leather cut in such a shape as to lie, snugly, between the shoulders of the horse and the collar; that is, it feeds off all the friction, as the collar slips and moves on the leather and not on the shoulders of the horse. Chafing is caused by friction; how, you see, the thing is entirely plausible. Some persons put pads or sheep-skins under the collar; these, they say, do as much hurt as good, for they augment the heat. The single piece of leather, like that composing the outside of a collar, without any lining or stuffing, he assures us, is better than anything else.

PACKING FRUIT FOR LONG DISTANCES.—I may here state, that I have found no better method in all my experience, which has extended over a period of twenty years, with all kinds of fruits, varying in distances from fifty to five hundred miles, than to pack them in dry sawdust. EDUCATIONAL.

SHELBY COLLEGE.

OPENS SECOND WEDNESDAY OF SEPT., (14TH.)

THE Trustees in their circular declare that they have reorganized the College in such manner as to give public confidence.

While moral and mental culture will receive chief attention, physical training will not be neglected. The students will be practiced in military drill and wear uniform. This strengthens the body, gives a manly, graceful carriage, forms an agreeable and a boisterous exercise, and invigorates the mind for study.

Boys of the earliest age (eight) preferred. The College can thus thoroughly educate them for its future classes. They will receive the same kind and matronly care as at home.

Charges for board and tuition for collegiate year, exclusive of washing, fuel, lights, and furniture of room, $200, payable one-half in advance. a19d1f
